

I am definately against any weakening of the Indiana Telephone Privacy Law. I am very happy not having my free time interupted by some sort of unwanted solicitation. I know where the banks, credit card, and phone companies are, if I need them. When that time comes, I don't think that the officers of those companies would like me calling them at their homes at dinner time. So I expect the same from them.